

USE OF CELL PHONE IN THE CLASSROOM

The use of cell phones is prohibited at NSCC. The faculty has determined cell phones disrupt the academic process.

Students who are required to carry phones for employment and/or family responsibilities must inform the instructor at the beginning of the semester concerning the necessity for the phone. The instructor and student will discuss the need/s for the phone, and a decision will be made by the instructor concerning the use of the pager. In cases where pagers are required and allowed by the instructor. Students who violate the terms of agreement of the use of a phone will forfeit the use of the privilege.

Students may not text during class.

In all cases relating the use of cell phones in the classroom is at the instructor's discretion and the instructor will determine if use of a phone constitutes disruptive behavior.
