Nashville State and Vanderbilt END Partnership

Nashville State Community College and the Vanderbilt Electroneurodiagnostic (END) Technology Program have partnered together to offer an Associate of Applied Science in General Technology. This AAS degree program allows students to transfer credit from NSCC to the Vanderbilt END Technology Program. Upon successful completion of the END Program, students may transfer credit back to NSCC. Students who have successfully completed all required General Education coursework and END coursework are eligible for the AAS, General Technology degree.

Students with this AAS degree are eligible to sit for the national END certification exam.
